International Medieval Meeting Lleida

The International Medieval Meeting Lleida (IMMLleida) is organised and administered by the Consolidated Medieval Studies Research Group. It takes place in Lleida during the last week in June. The participants can present sessions and individual papers on different aspects of research in the history of the Middle Ages or sessions dedicated to the promotion and management of research, the application of new technologies in the Humanities and the promotion of historical heritage. Furthermore, there will be important presentations concerning the publication and dissemination of research in medieval history. These events will take place in the University of Lleida, located in the medieval city of Lleida, where you will be able to enjoy a wide range of cultural and leisure activities.
